Mission & History

Lawyers for Civil Rights fosters equal opportunity and fights discrimination on behalf of people of color and immigrants. We engage in creative and courageous legal action, education, and advocacy in collaboration with law firms and community partners. Our organization is a leading hub for litigation, advocacy, and resistance to discrimination.

Our organization was founded in 1968 in the midst of riots, the aftermath of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and the findings of the Kerner Commission report concluding that the nation was “moving toward two societies. One black, one white – separate and unequal.”

With funding and pro bono legal services contributed by Boston law firms, the organization became the first of eight independently funded and governed local affiliates of the Washington, D.C.-based Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, a national organization formed at the request of President John F. Kennedy to enlist the private bar in providing free legal representation to address racial discrimination.

In 1973, we became the first pro bono project of the Boston Bar Association (BBA) and the only Lawyers’ Committee in the country directly connected with a major bar association. Although the organization is now separately incorporated with its own 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status, we continue to maintain strong ties to the BBA and the private bar in Boston.

Membership by private law firms still forms the working foundation of our organization. Member law firms fund a significant part of our annual operating expenses and provide millions of dollars in pro bono legal services by working closely with the organization. In this way, for decades, we have harnessed the resources and talent of Boston’s leading law firms to secure and protect the civil rights of Massachusetts residents.

Over the years, our organization has also grown, adding new projects and initiatives to respond to the changing face of discrimination. While working closely with an ever-increasing number of diverse community partners, we remain true to our core mission to challenge and eradicate all forms of discrimination.

In 2018, we celebrated our 50th anniversary and we also rebranded. The U.S. Congress marked this landmark occasion with a Congressional Resolution honoring our organization and 50 years of impactful work. The Boston City Council also issued a resolution declaring October 18 as Civil Rights and Economic Justice Day in Boston.

The struggle continues, but the future is bright. Lawyers for Civil Rights will continue advancing justice and equality for decades to come.

“It is not enough to be non-racist, we must be anti-racist.”

Angela Davis
Congratulations to Quincy Miller, President of Eastern Bank and to Lawyers for Civil Rights for their 20th Anniversary of BizGrow. We are proud to work alongside all of you to promote equal opportunity and to fight discrimination.

Message from the Executive Director

LCR is Boston’s hub for racial and economic justice. As legal first responders at a time when many doors are closing, we are opening ours wider. BizGrow is now supporting more than 1000 entrepreneurs annually. We’re well-positioned to help promote equitable post-pandemic community revitalization.

Injustice doesn’t take a break—and neither do we. That’s why in addition to a substantial body of small business work, we continue to fight for justice for people of color and immigrants.

We’re fighting for justice for Boston’s own George Floyd: Terrence Coleman, an unarmed young Black man who was fatally shot when his mother called 911 for assistance to get her son to the hospital for mental health treatment.

We’re fighting for justice for immigrants so they can have access to COVID-19 vaccines.

We’re fighting for justice for all our communities.

The pandemic makes it even more critical than ever to shine the spotlight on visionaries who are leading by example on racial justice, diversity and equity. Today, we are proud to honor Eastern Bank’s Quincy Miller for his leadership on inclusion and community engagement. Now more than ever, corporate leadership on issues of race, diversity, and inclusion is essential to help address systemic and structural racism.

We’re also proud to honor Segun Idowu and his inspiring team at the Black Economic Council of Massachusetts (BECMA) for advancing the economic well-being of people across the Commonwealth.

Every day, we’re bringing people together to make positive change. Our clients now have hope and believe there is opportunity ahead. Still, there is much more work to be done. Your continued support fuels our life-changing work providing free legal support to communities of color, immigrant communities, and low-income communities. Thank you for helping us create a world full of equality and justice.

Iván Espinoza-Madrigal
Lawyers for Civil Rights
Celebrating our 20th anniversary in 2021, LCR | BizGrow provides free legal assistance, business support, and technical assistance to minority, immigrant, and women business owners—ensuring they encounter fewer obstacles and more opportunities.

Our innovative programs to meet the needs of diverse entrepreneurs include: free legal representation, technical assistance, and workshops for small business owners on subjects such as entity formation, contracts, taxes, leases, and intellectual property.

We started BizGrow (then known as the Economic Justice Project) in 2001. The program was initiated by Laurie Hauber, with instrumental support from Scott Harshbarger, and was inspired by the successful model created by our sister organization, Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights of the San Francisco Bay Area. With the significant commitment of many of LCR’s Member Firms and Board of Directors — particularly Anna Dodson (Goodwin), Susan Mazur (WilmerHale/ Latham & Watkins), John Regier (Mintz), and Scott Harshbarger (Casner & Edwards), along with several community partners — the project served over 500 entrepreneurs in its first year alone.

Through generous support from The Boston Foundation and donors such as the family of LCR’s co-founder Gaspard D’Andelot Belin, the project has steadily grown to serve more entrepreneurs across the Commonwealth. Staffed by dedicated attorneys, including Priya Lane, Jessica Sommer, Sarah Gautier, Alexa Marin, and Gerald Glover, we have developed innovative strategies and programs, and built a reputation as a leading hub for economic justice and entrepreneurship. Our impact has grown significantly in recent years.

In 2016, we launched our “Create Your Own Job” workshop series in partnership with Roxbury Community College (RCC). This unique 10-week seminar, held at RCC’s campus, provides the surrounding community with the technical support and resources to launch successful small businesses.

In 2017, we launched Food Biz 101 with CommonWealth Kitchen and Goodwin. This unique food business accelerator allows entrepreneurs to go from concept to kitchen in three months — providing legal, business, and food production support.

In 2018, in response to natural gas explosions in the Merrimack Valley, particularly in Lawrence, BizGrow immediately addressed the needs of affected and displaced small businesses joining forces with Ropes & Gray to provide free legal support to help stabilize the community. BizGrow rapidly mobilized pro bono attorneys to help dozens of struggling small businesses to recover.

In 2018, we also launched the BizGrow Conference in partnership with Suffolk University Law School, Goodwin, Latham & Watkins, Nixon Peabody, and other Member Firms. This unique one-day event provides a one-stop shop for entrepreneurs to attend over 20 legal and technical workshops and to meet with volunteer attorneys for private one-on-one consultations about their specific business needs. Serving hundreds of entrepreneurs in one day — and featured in the Boston Business Journal and Bay State Banner — this uplifting pro bono and community engagement is now BizGrow’s flagship annual event.

In 2019, we undertook a comprehensive strategic branding and messaging process focused on strengthening our identity, more effectively articulating what we do, and better engaging the small business community. Many allies and community partners — such as the Black Economic Council of Massachusetts (BECMA), Amplify Latinx, CommonWealth Kitchen, Ujima Project, Boston Impact Initiative, E for All / E Para Todos, Local Initiatives Support Coalition (LISC), The Massachusetts Association of Community Development Corporations (MACDC), Massachusetts Growth Capital Corporation (MGCC), Local Enterprise
Assistance Fund (LEAF), Ascendus, The Foundation for Business Equity, Mill Cities Community Investment, The Lawrence Partnership, Coalition for an Equitable Economy, and the Massachusetts Small Business Development Center Network (MSBDC) — helped us to shape a more striking and memorable vision of who we are and what we are achieving. To harness this powerful momentum, we successfully relaunched and rebranded our Economic Justice Project as LCR | BizGrow.

Today, we continue to expand our work fighting for an equitable system for businesses of color joining forces with BECMA, Amplify Latinx, and the Greater Boston Latino Network to file a landmark Title VI Complaint with the U.S. Department of Justice challenging the City of Boston’s anemic rates of contracting with minority-owned businesses. Similar work is now underway in Worcester.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, BizGrow played a leading role in launching the COVID-19 Relief Coalition in partnership with Ropes & Gray, Goodwin, Brown Rudnick, Cooley, Dechert, Duane Morris, Fish & Richardson, Foley Hoag, Foley & Lardner, Goulston & Storrs, Kirkland & Ellis, Mintz, Morgan Lewis, Nelson Mullins, Nixon Peabody, Nutter, and WilmerHale to provide rapid-response legal assistance to small businesses, helping them weather the storm of the pandemic. This life-changing work was recognized by the Boston Bar Association with the prestigious Beacon Award in January 2021.

Growing wealth in historically disadvantaged communities is a critical civil rights issue. For 20 years, BizGrow has helped to close the wealth gap by fueling equitable economic growth and increasing access to economic justice. Today, we actively work with more than 1,000 entrepreneurs a year to ensure that they continue to have the resources they need to succeed across our Commonwealth.

This is business law for the public good.
This is economic justice in action.
This is LCR | BizGrow.
Founders’ Award

Lawyers for Civil Rights was founded in 1968 by a group of leading members of the Boston bar at President John F. Kennedy’s request and in support of the Civil Rights Movement. The founders were forward-thinking individuals who contributed greatly to the furtherance of social justice in Massachusetts and inspired subsequent generations of civil rights attorneys. The founders are:

- Frank I. Michelman
- Livingston Hall
- Hon. David S. Nelson
- Samuel Hoar
- James D. St. Clair
- James Vorenberg
- Richard L. Banks
- Hon. Paul J. Liacos
- G. d’Andelot Belin
- Hans F. Loeser
- Hon. Frederick L. Brown
- William F. Looney, Jr.
- Theodore Chase

In 2013, on the occasion of our 45th anniversary, Lawyers for Civil Rights established the Founders’ Award in recognition of the pivotal role that our founders played in championing civil rights and laying the groundwork for the ongoing work of challenging discrimination in Massachusetts. The award is to be given to individuals “for carrying on the pioneering efforts of the organization’s founders through extraordinary career contributions to enhancing social and economic justice.”

In choosing Eastern Bank’s Quincy Miller to receive this special award, we honor his visionary leadership on issues of diversity, inclusion, and community engagement.
Quincy Miller

Quincy Miller is Vice Chair and President of Eastern Bank. Eastern Bank is a full service commercial and retail bank with $15.0 billion in total assets and over 100 banking and insurance locations serving communities in eastern Massachusetts, southern and coastal New Hampshire, and Rhode Island. Quincy spends his time focused on helping lead the overall strategic direction of Eastern, which has served its customers, colleagues and communities for over 200 years.

Quincy is the former President of Citizens Bank, Massachusetts, and President of its Business Banking division. He started his career in consumer banking, where he developed his passion for “leading from the front line” ensuring that his perspective continues to be guided by colleagues with diverse backgrounds and experiences.

Quincy is committed to supporting the communities where he lives and works with a focus on equity and youth. He is a founding member of The New Commonwealth Racial Equity & Social Justice Fund. He also serves on the Board of Directors for The Boys and Girls Club of Boston, The Bottom Line, Blue Cross Blue Shield of MA, NACD New England, The Alliance for Business Leadership, and The Greater Boston YMCA Board of Overseers, Board Emeritus of The Greater Boston Food Bank and The Urban League of Eastern Massachusetts.

He has been recognized in the community as an inaugural member of the GK100 “Most Influential People of Color in Boston” by Get Konnected, and early in his career by the Boston Business Journal as “40 Under 40” and more recently as a “Power 50 Most Influential and Impactful Leader in Boston.” In 2020, Quincy was honored at the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Breakfast with the MLK 50th Anniversary Award for his commitment to Diversity & Inclusion that expresses Dr. King’s commitment to justice and equity.

Quincy is a graduate of Lafayette College, where he earned a B.A. in Economics and Business, and of the Consumer Bankers Association’s Executive Banking School. Having graduated from the school early in his career, he is now proud to serve on the National Board of Directors for the Consumer Bankers Association.

Quincy and his wife, Jenna, have two children.
Rosa Parks sparked the Civil Rights Movement on December 1, 1955, when she refused to yield her seat to a white passenger on a bus in Montgomery, Alabama. What followed was the legendary drive to defeat Jim Crow segregation practices across the country.

The flame that was sparked by Rosa Parks’ activism transformed the nation. Today, we honor leaders who continue to keep the flame of activism, transformation, and justice burning brightly. We are proud to honor Segun Idowu and the Black Economic Council of Massachusetts (BECMA) with this award for their action oriented commitment to supporting small businesses.
A lifelong resident of Boston, Segun Idowu is a proud product of the Boston Public Schools. Following his graduation from Boston Latin Academy, he earned his Bachelor of Arts in History at Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia and honors from the Phi Beta Kappa and Golden Key Societies.

In August 2014, Segun organized the Boston Police Camera Action Team (BPACT) with his colleague, Shekia Scott. BPACT’s mission was to further accountability and safety in Boston through the mandatory use of police body-worn cameras. As a result of their efforts, Boston began a yearlong mandatory body-worn camera pilot program and policy in September 2016. In 2018, Boston Mayor Marty Walsh announced a $2 million investment in a permanent citywide body-worn camera program.

In 2018, Segun was elected to serve as the 1st Vice President for the Boston chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the first chapter of the oldest civil rights advocacy organization in the nation. In this role, he managed the much heralded and research intensive report card project that assessed the city’s efforts and results in addressing systemic racial disparities.

In 2019, Segun stepped off the NAACP board to join the board of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) Massachusetts and focus on other board obligations at Mass Budget and Policy Center, Southwest Boston CDC, New Leaders Council (NLC), and the Roxbury YMCA. He also advises initiatives at the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and the Metropolitan Area Planning Council.

Segun currently serves as the President and CEO of the Black Economic Council of Massachusetts, Inc. (BECMA), the chief advocacy organization for Black businesses across the Commonwealth. BECMA represents the over 2,000 Black firms that employ 17,000 Massachusetts residents and generate over $1.9 billion in annual revenue. In April 2020 and 2021, Boston Magazine recognized Segun as one of the “100 Most Influential People in the City of Boston.” In July 2020, the Boston Globe recognized him on the front page of their Sunday edition as a “Man of the Moment” for his work in ramping up BECMA’s efforts to advocate for and direct resources to Black businesses impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. The Globe also honored him as a “Bostonian of the Year” later that December.
In 2015, the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston published its “Color of Wealth in Boston” report detailing the ever-widening racial wealth gap. This report was released against the backdrop of a massive building boom in the city, the third in its 400-year history. Researchers discovered that the median net worth of Black Bostonians was only $8.00, compared to $247,500, the median net worth of white Bostonians.

This alarming figure prompted almost 1,000 Black residents to fill the Prince Hall auditorium in Dorchester where the community discussed how best to respond to this crisis.

Following meetings that occurred in the aftermath of this gathering, key business leaders formed BECMA, or the Black Economic Council of Massachusetts, Inc., to build on the momentum and enact tangible solutions to reverse the trend of depreciating Black wealth in the city.

BECMA founders know that Black businesses are one of the primary drivers of Black wealth and employment. That’s why the organization exists to advocate specifically for Black businesses across the Commonwealth.
“Nothing can stop the power of a committed and determined people to make a difference in our society.”

– John Lewis
