Mission & History

Lawyers for Civil Rights fosters equal opportunity and fights discrimination on behalf of people of color and immigrants. We engage in creative and courageous legal action, education, and advocacy in collaboration with law firms and community partners. Our organization is a leading hub for litigation, advocacy, and resistance to discrimination.

Our organization was founded in 1968 in the midst of riots, the aftermath of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and the findings of the Kerner Commission report concluding that the nation was “moving toward two societies. One black, one white – separate and unequal.”

With funding and pro bono legal services contributed by Boston law firms, the organization became the first of eight independently funded and governed local affiliates of the Washington, D.C.-based Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, a national organization formed at the request of President John F. Kennedy to enlist the private bar in providing free legal representation to address racial discrimination.

In 1973, we became the first pro bono project of the Boston Bar Association (BBA) and the only Lawyers’ Committee in the country directly connected with a major bar association. Although the organization is now separately incorporated with its own 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status, we continue to maintain strong ties to the BBA and the private bar in Boston.

Membership by private law firms still forms the working foundation of our organization. Member law firms fund a significant part of our annual operating expenses and provide millions of dollars in pro bono legal services by working closely with the organization. In this way, for decades, we have harnessed the resources and talent of Boston’s leading law firms to secure and protect the civil rights of Massachusetts residents.

Over the years, our organization has also grown, adding new projects and initiatives to respond to the changing face of discrimination. While working closely with an ever-increasing number of diverse community partners, we remain true to our core mission to challenge and eradicate all forms of discrimination.

In 2018, we celebrated our 50th anniversary and we also rebranded. The U.S. Congress marked this landmark occasion with a Congressional Resolution honoring our organization and 50 years of impactful work. The Boston City Council also issued a resolution declaring October 18 as Civil Rights and Economic Justice Day in Boston.

The struggle continues, but the future is bright. Lawyers for Civil Rights will continue advancing justice and equality for decades to come.

“It is not enough to be non-racist, we must be anti-racist.”

More than two years into the pandemic, our families and communities continue to face significant challenges and hardship. The demand for LCR’s free legal services has exponentially increased during the pandemic. Daily intakes have steadily increased. In recent days, we have received hundreds of requests for legal assistance across policing, education, employment, health, and other even more issue areas. Through our work, we are reaching thousands of struggling families.

As many features of the pandemic become endemic, small businesses have been particularly hard-hit. As COVID-19 variants emerge, small businesses will remain vulnerable. LCR is committed to supporting small businesses to promote the economic revitalization of low-income and minority communities. This work will continue to be important as the economy continues to transform in response to the pandemic — and as minority communities experience an uneven recovery. Our commitment to low-income entrepreneurs remains steadfast and we are proud to support small businesses through innovative legal and community interventions. Most recently, we partnered with an organization we are honoring this year, Boston Impact Initiative, to provide small business owners with critical resources and support.
As the pandemic continues to unfold, we are also proud to deepen and expand our longstanding medical-legal partnership with Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH). We are delighted to announce that this life-changing partnership connecting low-income patients with free legal support has been re-launched as LCR | HealthJustice. In celebration of this rebranding, we are proud to honor MGH’s team.

Every day, we’re bringing people together to make positive change. Our clients now have hope and believe there is opportunity ahead. Still, there is much more work to be done. Your continued support fuels our life-changing work providing free legal support to communities of color, immigrant communities, and low-income communities. Thank you for helping us create a world full of equality and justice.

Lawyers for Civil Rights
It’s no secret: In the U.S. there are significant, pervasive disparities in health outcomes and access to health care resulting from race, income, and immigration status. This isn’t just a moral issue—it’s a civil rights issue. LCR | HealthJustice provides free legal assistance to the most vulnerable patients in our communities, including those with disabilities and those who are threatened with eviction or wrongfully denied public benefits, to ensure they have access to care and the best possible outcomes. More than half of the clients we serve identify as Latinx, and more than a quarter identify as Black. This work is more critical now than ever, as communities of color face overlapping public health, economic, and racial inequalities.

The heart of LCR | HealthJustice is our longstanding collaboration with MGH. We are embedded within MGH community-based health centers in Chelsea, Charlestown, Everett, and Revere to improve the lives of low-income patients and families. Providers at these centers refer patients to an LCR attorney for direct free legal assistance related to housing matters, disability benefits, and immigration/naturalization issues.

Through close coordination between attorneys, doctors, case managers, and community partners, we tackle the complex interactions between race, immigration status, poverty, healthcare, and the law.
LCR’s Medical-Legal Partnership with Massachusetts General Hospital is now LCR | HealthJustice.

LCR | HealthJustice is well positioned to tackle a vast variety of civil legal issues to stabilize our clients’ lives and improve healthcare outcomes. Recent successes include:

» Obtaining Social Security benefits for a single mother raising a child with disabilities while battling cancer.

» Negotiating with a landlord to stop the eviction of a low-income family.

» Securing emergency rental assistance for a mother of three, allowing her to pay rent that accumulated early in the pandemic when she was laid off.
Sullivan thanks LCR for its continued leadership and dedication to justice and equality.

Congratulations to the Boston Impact Initiative and the Center for Community Health Improvement at MGH on their honors at this year’s LCR Annual Reception.

Founders’ Award

Boston Impact Initiative
Lawyers for Civil Rights was founded in 1968 by a group of leading members of the Boston bar at President John F. Kennedy’s request and in support of the Civil Rights Movement. The founders were forward-thinking individuals who contributed greatly to the furtherance of social justice in Massachusetts and inspired subsequent generations of civil rights attorneys. The founders are:

- Frank I. Michelman
- Livingston Hall
- Hon. David S. Nelson
- Samuel Hoar
- James D. St. Clair
- James Vorenberg
- Richard L. Banks
- Hon. Paul J. Liacos
- G. d’Andelot Belin
- Hans F. Loeser
- Hon. Frederick L. Brown
- William F. Looney, Jr.
- Theodore Chase

In 2013, on the occasion of our 45th anniversary, Lawyers for Civil Rights established the Founders’ Award in recognition of the pivotal role that our founders played in championing civil rights and laying the groundwork for the ongoing work of challenging discrimination in Massachusetts. The award is to be given to individuals “for carrying on the pioneering efforts of the organization’s founders through extraordinary career contributions to enhancing social and economic justice.”

In choosing Boston Impact Initiative (BII) to receive this special award, we honor their active community-oriented commitment to supporting entrepreneurs and small businesses.
The Boston Impact Initiative (BII) works to build a sustainable, inclusive and equitable economy that restores the productive capacity of communities of color in Eastern Massachusetts. BII does this by investing integrated capital (equity, debt and grants) + knowledge and social capital in regenerative local enterprises that are owned and controlled by entrepreneurs of color or are serving communities of color in order to help close the racial wealth divide.

Since 2013, BII has pioneered innovative ways to promote the flow of capital to small businesses as a tool for closing the racial wealth divide. While doing this, they have centered the values of solidarity and mutuality. In 2021, BII invested $1.4 million in 14 social enterprises, and a total of $7.1M into 63 investments over the life of their fund. They strengthened their technical assistance program to provide the knowledge and social capital needed for our enterprises to stabilize and increase their impact. In October 2021, BII completed the Integrated Capital Fund-Building Cohort Program with participants from initiatives across the U.S. and they are providing ongoing support to the cohort.
BII’s mission of using integrated capital to build regenerative and equitable local economies has never been more important. The deep relationships with entrepreneurs, partners and communities who reflect the voices of the people we serve, is the foundation for advancing their mission. Moving forward, BII will continue to focus on expanding their work with a second integrated capital fund and by influencing the field of impact investing through education, policy and practice that drives economic justice.

BII and Lawyers for Civil Rights have long been collaborating through our innovative economic justice project, LCR | BizGrow. We are proud to honor BII for its leadership in supporting minority, immigrant, and women entrepreneurs through impact investing based on the solidarity economy principles and values. By giving entrepreneurs of color the opportunity to control their own future, BII has been leading by example and creating a blueprint for similar efforts both locally and nationally.
Keeper of the Flame Award

MGH’s Center for Community Health Improvement
Rosa Parks sparked the Civil Rights Movement on December 1, 1955, when she refused to yield her seat to a white passenger on a bus in Montgomery, Alabama. What followed was the legendary drive to defeat Jim Crow segregation practices across the country.

The flame that was sparked by Rosa Parks’ activism transformed the nation. Today, we honor leaders who continue to keep the flame of activism, transformation, and justice burning brightly. We are proud to honor Massachusetts General Hospital’s Center for Community Health Improvement (CCHI) for their leadership in the community.
“When in distress, every man becomes our neighbor.” These are the words that the Massachusetts General Hospital was founded on more than 200 years ago.

Today, working with community and hospital partners, Mass General’s Center for Community Health Improvement (CCHI) brings together people and resources to address challenging health problems—and promote policy and system change—that foster measurable and sustainable improvement. Focusing on the social determinants of health—factors such as housing, education, employment and access to care—CCHI works to address health inequities and build healthy, safe and thriving communities.

For the past 25 years, CCHI has maintained an unwavering commitment to the diverse community they serve in Chelsea, Revere and Charlestown—neighborhoods where Mass General has maintained health care centers for more than 40 years.

CCHI programs also include working with Boston youth and special populations—such as the homeless, immigrants, and refugees—to improve their health status and reduce alarming health disparities.

The MGH Center for Community Health Improvement, the MGH Chelsea Health Center, and Lawyers for Civil Rights have long been collaborating through our innovative Medical-Legal Partnership, now known as LCR | HealthJustice. The project was launched in 2003 to improve the health and well-being of low-income families who are patients of the pediatric or adult primary care practices at MGH Chelsea with a mission of addressing the legal issues that affect a patient’s health. It focuses on housing stability and household income, the two social determinants of health viewed as most critical to the family’s health. LCR partners with the Community Health Worker team providing representation to prevent eviction, secure unemployment benefits, advocate for special accommodations for patients with disabilities, and facilitate access to public benefits. And, over the years, the program has helped hundreds of immigrants to become US citizens.

LCR is proud to honor Mass General’s Center for Community Health Improvement and their impressive efforts to improve the health and well-being of the diverse communities they serve. For nearly two decades, our partnership has been critical to stabilize and support thousands of families who receive life-saving care from MGH and life-changing legal services from LCR.
As we celebrate the re-launch of LCR | HealthJustice, we are spotlighting the attorney who created this vital initiative: Laura Maslow-Armand. We are grateful for her leadership.
A graduate of Harvard College, Laura won a Fulbright Scholarship to study in Paris, where she earned a Master’s in French Literature.

After the Fulbright, Laura entered the doctoral program in History from Harvard’s Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Her dissertation focused on the Protestants of La Rochelle during the French Revolution.

After earning her Ph.D. in History, Laura returned to France, where she became a tenured Professor at the Sorbonne. While at the Sorbonne, she also earned a doctorate in American Studies focusing on cities governed by African American mayors.

When France celebrated the bicentennial of the American Constitution in 1987, Laura presented to the French Senate on the U.S. Supreme Court’s role in defining rights for African Americans.

Laura subsequently returned to the U.S. and enrolled at Harvard Law School. Graduating in 1992 from HLS, she joined the Massachusetts bar.

Her legal career started under Attorney General Scott Harshbarger, serving as an attorney in the AG’s Public Protection Bureau. She litigated housing discrimination matters within the AG’s Civil Rights Division, and fundraising fraud cases within the Public Charities Division.

In 2003, Laura joined Lawyers for Civil Rights (LCR), where she handled the employment discrimination docket for more than a decade.

At the same time, Laura launched LCR’s Medical-Legal Partnership with the Massachusetts General Hospital’s HealthCare Center in Chelsea. Initially, the partnership with MGH provided housing assistance and public benefits to families with children. Over time, the practice areas expanded to include guardianship, naturalization, and child support with referrals from every MGH medical unit, and with a particular emphasis on Behavioral Health.

By 2015, the Medical-Legal Partnership had become a full-time commitment as its geographic scope began expanding from Chelsea to other MGH community health centers in Charlestown, Everett, and Revere.

Laura’s sustained advocacy on behalf of low-income families, people of color, and immigrants has been consistently recognized. In 2015, Laura received Harvard’s prestigious Gary Bellow Public Service Award, established in memory of the late Gary Bellow, a pioneering attorney specializing in public interest and poverty law. At the award ceremony, Laura was celebrated for her “abiding commitment to using law and working inside the law to make things better for those who have little.” Laura’s leadership was instrumental in the Medical-Legal Partnership for nearly two decades. The partnership has been critical to stabilize and support thousands of families who receive life-saving medical care from MGH and life-changing legal services from LCR.

Today, we shine the spotlight on Laura and celebrate her legacy.
